Introduction to Not Into Finance

Not Into Finance (NIFI) is a research, education, and community platform that makes finance and investing easier to understand for people across different experience levels. Through research publications, educational content, classes, and community activities, NIFI connects financial analysis with practical learning for students, retail investors, professionals, and beginners.

NIFI delivers its mission through three core pillars:

01 Research: We translate company, industry, macroeconomic, and market analysis into accessible insights, helping our audience understand the drivers behind businesses, financial markets, and investment opportunities.

02 Education: We make financial knowledge accessible through educational content and classes, covering investing fundamentals, risk, valuation, and equity research to help people build their understanding and make informed decisions.

03 Community: We bring people together through Discord discussions, classes, meetups, and #NiFiBerbagi activities, creating an inclusive space for shared learning, meaningful connections, and community participation.

Introduction to Indonesia Capital Market Student Studies (ICMSS)

Indonesia Capital Market Student Studies (ICMSS) is an annual capital market event organized by the Management Student Society at the Faculty of Economics and Business, Universitas Indonesia. Through research competitions, seminars, and investment training, ICMSS helps students and the wider public understand financial markets, develop analytical skills, and learn from industry professionals.

ICMSS pursues its vision of becoming an international capital market learning center for students through three main programs:

01 Equity Research Conference: A competition where undergraduate students analyze publicly listed companies, develop equity research reports, and present investment recommendations to experienced equity analysts.

02 Capital Market Seminar: Seminars featuring industry professionals who share perspectives on economic developments, market trends, and the outlook for Indonesia's capital markets.

03 Investment Training: Learning sessions that introduce participants to stock investing, providing foundational knowledge and practical tools to support informed investment decisions.

Why NIFI × ICMSS

A Shared Purpose

NIFI and ICMSS bring together research, education, and capital market competition experience to help aspiring equity researchers turn financial knowledge into practical analysis and informed investment recommendations.

Complementary Strengths

NIFI brings accessible research, practical finance education, and community engagement. ICMSS brings experience in equity research competitions, investment training, and capital market seminars. Together, these strengths support a learning journey from understanding companies to presenting investment ideas.

What This Collaboration Brings

Three strengths supporting the participant journey:

01 Research into Practice: Connect research insights with company analysis and valuation, helping participants develop investment recommendations supported by evidence.

02 Structured Learning: Build equity research skills through classes, assignments, and report writing within a clear learning journey.

03 Investment Pitching: Apply research through presentations, helping participants communicate their investment thesis, valuation, and risks clearly.
